Why Netpresenter

Netpresenter is an omnichannel platform designed for employee and emergency communication, with a strong focus on visual messaging. Discover what sets Netpresenter apart and how it helps keep your employees informed, engaged, productive, and safe.

Strategic employee communication

Netpresenter is more than just software—it's a strategic tool for communication professionals at every level. With Netpresenter, organizations can align their employee communication across multiple channels and manage content from one integrated platform. From regular updates to urgent notifications, the platform ensures that all employees—whether desk-based, non-desk, or remote—are reached. By using repetition, Netpresenter helps messages stand out and be remembered, giving organizations a fighting chance in today's information-overloaded world.
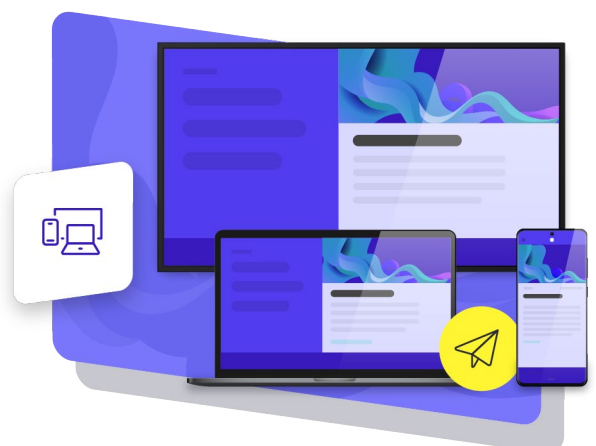

Visual push communication

Our platform's strength lies in visual push communication. By presenting information in a visually appealing manner "in your face", we make sure it grabs attention and effectively reaches employees. Unlike traditional channels such as company newsletters and intranet, Netpresenter brings the latest company news or critical updates directly to employees in a memorable way. By displaying visually engaging content on all available screens (TV, PC, Mobile Devices), we make sure your messages make the impact you want it to.

Omnichannel platform

Netpresenter offers organizations an all-in-one platform to reach all employees through multiple channels—PC, TV, and mobile—both for employee communication and during emergencies. Literally every screen in your organization can be turned into a communication channel, which is how you make sure nobody escapes your message. We enable you to get your information across by selecting the most important updates and presenting them in an attention-grabbing way. Think of us as the spotlight that highlights what matters most.
